

Le Cinq Codet

Housed within the former France Telecom building from the 1930s and restored by acclaimed designer Jean-Philippe Nuel, Le Cinq Codet lets one experience a Paris the world knows and one it doesn't. A towering homage to modernity, Le Cinq Codet's 1930s building deploys its personality in the neighborhood like a vessel with soft curves and large double-height windows shaping its façade. The hotel is bathed in light with spectacular private terraces on the top floor inviting guests to commune with the dome of Les Invalides and the Eiffel Tower.
